

Choosing a Board Management Solution

Typical board members are busy, they are often highly mobile and they have to make informed decisions about the most sensitive issues concerning their business. The problem is that typical board members aren't typical. In a recent, independent, Brainloop-sponsored survey, 79% of respondents cited ease of use and 61% cited a very high level of security as "must haves". In the same survey 63% cited customization to secure document policies as being equally important. So although ease of use and high security are important, they're only part of the story.

Key Challenges

- › Confidential board documents and processes must be accessible by directors in various, often disparate locations
- › Board books, minutes must be compiled/distributed quickly
- › Traditional document distribution can be costly, time-consuming
- › Business environment demands accelerated decision-making ability
- › Data breaches pose enormous risk to directors, executives, corporation

Brainloop Secure Boardroom™

- › Centralized, secure repository ensures immediate, secure access
- › Board books can be easily collated, distributed
- › Strict access controls ensure document confidentiality and protection
- › Online voting, acting by proxy and ad hoc meetings accelerate decisions
- › Best-in-class security with advanced document encryption, Microsoft RMS, operator shielding, SOX-compliant audit trail

Business Benefits

- › Boardroom activities are kept confidential
- › Boardroom document management is simplified
- › Boardroom is open 24x7, enabling faster decision making
- › Full audit trail reduces risk of exposure

About Brainloop

Based in Boston and Munich, Brainloop is the Secure Enterprise Information Company enabling document security anytime, anywhere. The web-based Secure Platform provides a transparent security environment where sensitive documents can only be viewed and edited by authorized users. Its tamper-proof audit trail ensures that every activity associated with accessing, viewing or editing these documents, whether shared with internal stakeholders, external auditors or prospective investors are protected, recorded and indelibly traced to individual users. Brainloop's Secure Platform™ protects the lifeblood of your business — your intellectual property— while enabling efficient and secure collaboration beyond the safety of your company's firewall.

The Brainloop Solution for Board Management

Secure

Not all security is created equal. Brainloop's security is built-in, not bolted on. All our solutions have as much, or as little, security as customers need: from simple password protection to genuine two-factor authentication and a system generated PIN sent to a mobile phone. Security levels can be set for individual documents and you can even safely send documents for external review.

The same documents that end up being reviewed at board level often start with collaboration from mid-level management. Brainloop Secure Boardroom™ allows individuals or departments who are not board members to provide initial document input and review without compromising the integrity of board communications. Brainloop makes board management easier for everyone involved – you can maintain control of your most sensitive documents from creation to approval and stay compliant with your legislative, regulatory and corporate processes.

Customizable

Your Boardroom can be accessed 24/7 through any web browser or via our full-feature Brainloop Mobile iPad app. It's easily customizable to suit your work practices and processes around document and information compliance management. Plus it's completely secure.

The Brainloop Secure Boardroom™ saves time, effort and worry for board members and administrators alike. We can help you get started, whether it's providing templates to suit your board structure or providing professional services to completely customize the solution to suit your business processes.

Simple

With over 10 years' experience in supplying boards and enterprises with secure and compliant document management solutions, Brainloop has learned how board members want to use and access their information.

We know that your information is your information and no one else's. And because our solution is easy to use it actually gets used, not avoided — keeping your information compliant and under your control.

Get Completely Secure – Effortlessly.
